

SOJOURN

In keeping with the efforts of our district and community to become more "green", and to encourage the use of technology, the staff of Sojourn is pleased to publish our online student newspaper. It is, and will remain, a work in progress. As we become more familiar with our new form, we hope to devote increased attention to broadening content. By publishing the paper on a "wiki", we hope to encourage student, staff, parent and community collaboration. All readers are welcome to leave comments or contribute work by clicking on "discussion". Among the topics we welcome are classroom activities, community happenings, current events, sports, humor, food, exercise, puzzles, ecology - summer stories, too!

Log onto sojourn.wikispaces.com
to see Sojourn online.

See these full stories, plus color photographs and artwork.

Touring DC

Billy M

This year, since we are in the eighth grade, we were allowed to visit our nation's capital, Washington D.C. It was a very memorable time for me and my classmates. We stayed in a hotel overnight and went to Hershey Park the day after seeing all of the magnificent monuments. ...

The Blauvelt Lions had three winners in the club's poster contest, which featured ... theme, "Peace begins with me."

Students from Mrs. Tarasco and Mrs. Bauer's classes, along with students from Mrs. Harris and Ms. McInerney's classes created T-shirts to persuade other students to read their chosen novels by Jerry Spinelli ...

Cloudy Day
Victor T

Inside the house
Waiting, waiting, waiting
The pitter patter of rain falling down from the gray cloudy sky
No sound but the rain...

Flitter, flutter flies the butter fly ...

Nothing
Katie Z

Nothing to write
Nothing to say
Nothing to think about Nothing ...

El Torro
David R
Waiting on line
Second thoughts

Waiting
Finally time
To get on the ride
Going slow Waiting on to

Shoot Out
Paolo A

The score is tied
Its down to you
And everybody is watching

Theres no one left...
You miss you lose world...

